CAUDLE-HILLE.

Pretty Home Wedding at Roaring Springs.

Mr. William Lyndon Caudle and Miss Mary Hille were married Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride's father, Dr. H. L. J. Hille, of Roaring Springs.

It was a beautiful home wedding and the house was appropriately decorated with flowers and with yellow and white, the colors of the bride's graduating class. The wedding march was played by Prof. O. G. Hille, of this city, Rev. J. W. Mitchell, of this city, performed the ceremony. Miss Mabel Hille, the bride's sister, and Miss Alice Coleman, were the bridesmaids, and the bride carried a bouquet of yellow and white chrysanthemums.

The newly married couple went at once to the groom's home near Newstead, where a reception was given. Mr. Caudle is a prosperous young farmer. His pretty bride is a graduate of Bethel Female College.

SHOT IN BREAST.

One Negro Badly Wounded and Other Escapes.

Jordon Buchanan was shot and badly wounded by George McKinley late Thursday afternoon. The rebels are colored and the trouble occurred on Sixth street. The ball entered Buchanan's breast, near the left shoulder, and ranged down. He was taken to his home on North Virginia street, where he lies in a serious condition. The wound is not thought to be necessarily fatal, however.

Buchanan says that McKinley snatched a cigar from his hand, when he asked him not to play with him that way. Buchanan then walked off, and was followed by McKinley. The trouble was then renewed and the shooting occurred.

McKinley fled immediately and had not been located up to a late hour yesterday.

All indications are that the present meeting will be one of the most successful ever held by the Daughters in the state.

Race For President.

The chief interest in the convention lies in the election of officers, which will take place to-morrow morning, and there will be a spirited contest for the presidency. The real fight will be between Mrs. James Pryor Tarvin, of Covington, and Mrs. Roy McKinney of Paducah, though other names will be brought up. A notable feature was a historical paper by Mrs. Andrew M. Sea, of Louisville, the keynote of which was that the K. U. D. C. should take concerted action with regard to having an impartial history introduced into the public schools of the State.

Mrs. Sea then gave another paper on the "Secession of Kentucky," a request for the paper having come from the floor. Reports from the standing committees followed.

MARTIN—JONES.

Hopkins County People Married Here Yesterday.

Mr. S. A. Martin and Miss Clarissa Jones, young people living near Madisonville, were married here yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. L. Wyatt, at his residence. The couple arrived here on the early morning train and returned on the next train north.

B. L. Landerman, of Pittsburg, Pa., and Miss Alice Peters, of Olmstead, were united in marriage at the home of the bride Tuesday afternoon. The bride formerly lived at Casy.

DAUGHTERS IN CONVENTION.

Bowling Green Doing the Honors In Great Style.

ATTENDANCE IS LARGE.

Meeting Most Successful In History of the U. D. C.

Bowling Green, Ky., Oct. 27.—The annual convention of the Kentucky Daughters of the Confederacy was called to order here yesterday at 10 o'clock with about seventy-five visiting delegates representing nearly every section of the State, in addition to the local Daughters in attendance.

Immediately after the call to order today, the address of welcome was delivered by Mrs. J. A. Mitchell, president of the local chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy, and the response on behalf of the delegates was made by Mrs. Mary Walker Price, of Danville. Mrs. Basil Duke, the president, then read her annual report and this was followed by the report of the committee on credentials, the reports of the secretary, treasurer and other officers.

Thursday afternoon there was a memorial service in honor of Mrs. Mattie Bruce Reynolds, and in the evening a reception was given at the Elks' clubrooms by the local Daughters of the Confederacy. This was one of the most brilliant entertainments that has been given in Bowling Green for some time and a large number of Bowling Green people and visitors were present.

All indications are that the present meeting will be one of the most successful ever held by the Daughters in the state.

Race For President.

The chief interest in the convention lies in the election of officers, which will take place to-morrow morning, and there will be a spirited contest for the presidency. The real fight will be between Mrs. James Pryor Tarvin, of Covington, and Mrs. Roy McKinney of Paducah, though other names will be brought up. A notable feature was a historical paper by Mrs. Andrew M. Sea, of Louisville, the keynote of which was that the K. U. D. Mrs. Sea then gave another paper on the "Secession of Kentucky," a request for the paper having come from the floor. Reports from the standing committees followed.

NEED ROOM.

Keach Furniture Co. Will Make Large Additions.

The Keach Furniture Co. has leased the building in the rear of their present business house on Ninth street and will have it remodeled and shaped up for occupancy at once. The building extends to Eighth street, and when ready for stock the company will have much room in which to conduct their large and increasing business. They will continue to occupy their present house, the new room being only an addition to their quarters. When the extra room is added they will then extend from Ninth to Eighth street.

Landerman-Peter.

B. L. Landerman, of Pittsburg, Pa., and Miss Alice Peters, of Olmstead, were united in marriage at the home of the bride Tuesday afternoon. The bride formerly lived at Casy.

The Weather.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—For Kentucky: Saturday fair and colder.

WORK TO BEGIN

On Extension of L. & N. Trackage.

In the immediate future the L. & N. will begin the extension of their trackage on this side and beyond the river north of town. As we have before stated, the company will greatly increase their facilities for handling cars here by nearly doubling their side trackage. Then the tracks leading to the rock quarries are to be raised and more trackage put in. Besides, as forecasted in a recent issue, new tracks are to be laid beyond the river and an office established over there connected with the city office by telephone and telegraph. The greater part of handling freight cars will be done through the new office.

FATAL RESULT.

Louisa Girl Dies from Injuries Received on July 4.

Ashland, Ky., Oct. 26.—Miss Besse Hale, the eighteen-year-old daughter of Ira Hale, who resides near Louisa, died here at the King's Daughters' Hospital, where she was brought for treatment.

On the night of July 4 last Miss Hale's sister was married, and during the charivari following the wedding Miss Hale was struck in the side by a door that was suddenly jerked open. One of her ribs was broken, and serious complications developed. Four operations were performed, but failed to bring relief to the unfortunate girl.

Geese Pass Over.

Several flocks of wild geese passed over the city this week, en route south, where they will spend the winter.

FELL FROM HACK

Under Heels of Horses and Was Badly Injured.

Tuesday afternoon, while returning from Murray, where he had been to sell notions on the street, H. P. Farris, the auctioneer, formerly of this city but now of Mayfield, met with a serious accident and one that may disfigure him for life. The team, a pair of western ponies, driven to a hack, suddenly lurched to one side and threw the front wheels of the vehicle into a deep rut. Mr. Farris was thrown to the ground and under the feet of the horses. This frightened the animals and they began to kick. As a result the face of the gentleman was terribly lacerated, his cheeks, nose and mouth being reduced almost to a jelly. He also sustained other serious injuries. The wounds, while quite painful, are not likely to prove fatal, but his escape from death was miraculous, and he will be laid up for some time.

Gov. Deneen, of Illinois, has ordered an investigation of the Illinois Life Insurance Company, the company that three years ago absorbed the Kentucky Mutual Company. It now has $46,000,000 in policies.

You have to go from home sometimes to get the news. For instance, this item is from the Frankfort Journal:

"It is mighty hard to run a Republican paper with profit in Kentucky, even in rock-ribbed Republican counties. The Hopkinsville Messenger is offered for sale, showing that it is not a success, even if it is the only Republican paper in a Republican county."

OUR NEXT STATE SENATOR.

HON. FRANK RIVES.
Democratic nominee of the Christian-Hopkins district.

A traveling man who arrived here this week from Russellville is authority for the statement that the purchase of registration certificates there is open and above board. He says he saw one man display a roll of $100 and publicly announced that he would give $100 for 20 certificates. An opposition worker told him he would get into trouble, when the purchaser made a direct offer of $5 for his own certificate, in order to test the matter. The offer was not accepted.

It has been virtually settled that Prince Charles of Denmark will ascend the throne of Norway as King Haakon VII. The last independent Norwegian king was Haakon VI, who died in 1830. Prince Charles is the second son of Crown Prince Frederick, of Denmark, and is 33 years old. In 1896 he married King Edward's youngest daughter, and they have one child, a son born two years ago.

Some one signing his circular "Committee on Secret Ballot" is dredging the mails with literature declaring the secret ballot to be dangerous. Let us hope that it is. If we are ever to have a return to honest election in Kentucky, the first step should be to abolish the present fraudulent system imported from Australia.

A state senator in Tennessee led a raid on a room in which his son was conducting a poker game and directed the arrest of the young man and his friends. Judge Allie Young at Morehead, Ky., fined his brother, Attorney Will Young, $50 for "talking back" in court. Is the world getting better?

Marion, Ky., celebrated the rebuilding of the town last Wednesday, during the heavy rains. The fire of seven months ago almost wiped out the town. If the rain could have fallen on the fire instead of the fireworks, the celebration might not have been in order.

The Ring candidates are now thoroughly frightened and on the verge of a panic. The most conservative observers of political events on both sides admit that the election is close and doubtful. The ring appears to be doomed.

The officials of the United States Independent Telephone Company held an important meeting yesterday in St. Louis. President Finucane reports exceptional progress in the merging of the chief independent companies.

The Court of Appeals holds that where articles of incorporation substantially comply with the statute, the Secretary of State has no discretion and may be compelled by mandatory to file and record them.

A Woman Tramp.

A poorly clad woman, past middle age, was walking around the streets yesterday looking for a boy who came with her from Pembroke. She appeared before Judge Fowler, who advised her to go to her home in Jackson county, Ky. The Judge offered to give her a railroad ticket to Pembroke, but she refused to take it, saying, "them things go mighty fast and I might get killed." When urged to take a ticket she replied that it wouldn't take long and she would walk back. Judge Fowler was nonplussed and had to let the woman go her way. She gave her name as Mrs. Spivey. She was not only enroute but seemed to have but little mind. She said she came here for help.

VERY SWELL

Was Marriage of Miss Wade
And Mr. Scullin.

St. Louis, Oct. 24.—The marriage of Miss Stella Marie Wade, daughter of Festus J. Wade, President of the Mercantile Trust Company, and Chas. J. R. Scullin, youngest son of John Scullin, street car magnate and one of the best known financiers in the West, was solemnized to-day in the New Cathedral Chapel by Archbishop J. J. Glennon. Two hours before the arrival at the sanctuary of the invited guests a squad of police detailed to guard the entrance found it necessary to swing their clubs freely to keep a throng of curious people from invading the church.

Last night, while over $100,000 worth of wedding presents were being unpacked at the Wade residence, fire started in the basement. Prompt work by firemen extinguished the flames with small damage.

"Americans will find a cure for the evils that now beset them," is the keynote to the remarkable new series of articles, "Soldiers of the Common Good," by Charles Edward Russell—articles descriptive of the wisest experiments that are being tried the world over with the ideal democracy in view. Read Mr. Russell's stirring "Forward," in the November "Everybody's," with the prophecy that the issue of all great sociological experiments will be "the rise of the common people," and you will conclude that his sincere, sympathetic, unbroken story of the struggle of present-day humanity promises to be something vital to every American. The new series seems particularly to the point in connection with such a blunt, out-and-out story of corruption as Mr. Lawson tells in this month's installment of "Frenzied Finance." Some unknown facts about William A. Clark, of Montana; the story of H. H. Rogers' "delivery" to the United States Senate and the true story of the collapse of the Globe Bank of America, are among the fragments of American financial history that Mr. Lawson now relates for the first time.

The variety of its subject matter makes this number of Everybody's one of international interest.

Three Deaths From Football.

The outcry against the unnecessary roughness in college football is heard on every hand, and, unless the rules are changed, the game is likely to be forbidden in many places altogether, says Philadelphia Record. The game as now played is not a good exercise for boys or for the average student. It is too rough for any but a trained athlete. Fatalities seldom occur except to those who have neglected to properly prepare themselves for the contest. So far this year three deaths from football have been reported, all schoolboys, while four others have been seriously injured, two of the latter being men. Twelve other men have been more or less injured, showing that the rules must be changed to save the game.

Football Yesterday.

The football team of the Southern Normal School, of Bowling Green, came down yesterday to play the boys of South Kentucky College. The home team was in fine shape to meet its opponents at their new park east of the College. The game was in progress as we went to press, and of course the result could not be given.

Child Marriage In India.

More than 250,000 girls in India, five years of age or less, were already married when the last census was taken, and of these necessarily many have become widows. Between five and ten years the number of married girls was well over 2,000,000; between ten and fifteen years it had risen to nearly 7,000,000, says the Chicago News.

Most of the widows of tender years become so before they know what widowhood means. It is only as they grow out of infancy that they learn the sad life to which they are condemned, a life of misery which is inconceivable to people of western countries, yet is enforced by Hindoo customs.

Though the English law in India would recognize the legality of a remarriage of these youthful widows, inexorable custom forbids it, and its occurrence is rare. There were in India in 1901 nearly 426,000 widows under fifteen years of age, of whom nearly 20,000 were less than five years old.

Some Big Families.

The record in family numbers is believed to belong to Scotland. It is that of a Scotch weaver in the seventeenth century, whose wife bore him sixty-two children. Only twelve died in childhood, forty-three sons and four daughters living to be twenty-one and upward. This almost incredible record is said to be fully and absolutely authenticated. Sir John Bowes and three other gentlemen each adopted and reared ten of this prodigious family.

A century ago there died in Jamaica a woman named Mills. Her age was given as 118, and she was followed to the grave by 256 of her children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren—no fewer than sixty of whom, all named Ebanks, belonged to the regiment of militia for St. Elizabeth's parish.—Chicago Journal.

The price of this splendid Magazine is one dollar a year. See it and you will have it. The November and January numbers containing the Rev. Irl. R. Hicks' forecasts for the whole year, and more complete than ever, can be had by sending at once 25 cents to Word and Works Publishing Company, 2201 Locust Street, St. Louis, Mo.

Come to Kentucky.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 24.—Several hundred horsemen from Europe arrived here today on the lookout for high-class horses, with which to increase their breeding interests abroad, and several days will be spent in Kentucky inspecting the local horse market. Count Malynski, of Russia, who owns one of the most pretentious breeding establishments in the land of the Czar, which is headed by the American horse Valentine, will likely purchase trotting stallions and mares. He has been on a tour of the United States for the past several weeks. Other arrivals were Dr. Neilson and Count Pojoneah, of Copenhagen, who are also on the lookout for stallions and mares.

New Pastor.

The Rev. A. J. Taylor, of Lebanon, Tenn., has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Cumberland Presbyterian church in this city, and preached his first sermon to that congregation Sunday night. He will preach here again on the second and fourth Sunday nights in each month. Rev. Taylor is also pastor of the church at Fairview, and preaches there the second and fourth Sunday mornings. He is a young minister of great promise, and the Pemroke congregation is fortunate in securing his services.—Pembroke Journal.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Honeymoon", Then

Jule Foreman Musical

Comedy Co.

Charlotte Burnett, whose charming work in "Twelfth Night" and "When Knighthood Was in Flower" will be remembered, is to come to us in a new production; the brightest and most exciting of all comedies,—"The Honeymoon". The play is one in which Miss Burnett scores from start to finish as the part of the wilful, mischievous yet fascinating bride, Julianne is exactly suited to her; she has the winning beauty, grace, the archness and dash of deviltry to make her the embodiment of the sparkling little heroine. Not only has Miss Burnett's stage training been of the finest, with Richard Mansfield, Julia Marlowe and Daniel Frohman's Empire Stock Co., but she is a college graduate of Wellesley. Miss Burnett's costumes, as well as the entire company's, are correct historically, by Worth of Paris, and Van Horn of New York.

An Eskimo Girl's Ball Dress.

When an Eskimo young lady goes to a ball she is a gorgeous sight to gaze upon. A traveler reports just how a belle was dressed on such an occasion.

Her dress was made of the intestines of a seal, split and sewed together. This makes a transparent garment and the girl trimmed it with elaborate embroidery of colored wools and fringed it with strings of beads.

Her trousers white and made of Siberian reindeer skin embroidered with strips of wolf skin and strips of beads. Heavy necklaces and pendants of beads and teeth of animals hung around her neck and over her shoulders.

Snow-white gloves made of fawn skin were on her hands. These fitted perfectly and were ornamented with strips of skin from some animal—perhaps the seal. To complete this elaborate outfit this Eskimo belle carried long eagle feathers, one in each hand, which she waved as she danced.—Washington Star.

NO FOR COMFORT.

Steam Heat Taken Place of Stoves at Court House.

Farewell to freezing corridors, soot and fire poking at the court house. The Forbes Manufacturing Co., contractors for putting in the heating apparatus in the jail and court house, completed their contract yesterday and turned on the steam. Everything save a few leaks at the pipe connection worked alright and the entire building was soon rendered comfortable from the radiator. The money expended was one of the wisest appropriations ever made by the fiscal court.
